

Notification

The document “To Overseas Atomic Bomb Survivors – Procedures for lodging an application for an allowance or funeral assistance from outside of Japan –(November 30, 2005),” recently delivered to you has been revised. Please find the enclosed latest version (January 25, 2006) and its English translation.

Major revisions are as follows:

- Information in the application forms for allowances or funeral assistance may be written in English. However, please refer to the “Note(s)” accompanied by the form as well as Pages 3-4 or Page 6 in Appendix 2 before entering information, because there are still some items that must be written in either Japanese or English.
- Medical certificates written in English is now acceptable. Please refer to the “Note(s)” accompanied by the form because there are still some items that must be written in either Japanese or English.

Please note that the period of validity of the medical certificate is one month from the date of application.

- Care should be taken for other revisions as well. When you apply for allowances or funeral assistance, please review and understand the information in pages relevant to your application, in the enclosed material.
