

Report on Regional Public Health Services and Health Promotion Services in FY2022

【Digest of Summary Report】

- The number of persons who submitted “pregnancy notification” to municipalities was 790,417 in the 2022 fiscal year. By number of weeks of gestation, the largest number was those who “submitted within 11 weeks (within 3 months)” with 746,355 accounting for 94.4% of the total number of persons who submitted the notification.
- The number of the full-time public health nurse (per 100,000 population) of the public health center and municipalities as of the end of 2022 fiscal year was 22.8 for “Nationwide“, while by prefecture, the largest number was “Shimane prefecture” with 48.0, followed by “Kochi prefecture” with 44.4, and “Wakayama prefecture” with 40.0.

Please click here for the details (in Japanese only)

Outline of Report on Regional Public Health Services and Health Promotion Services

1 Objective

Report on Regional Public Health Services and Health Promotion Services is to perceive the development, etc. of health care policy based on regional characteristics with a view to health management and improvement of local residents by public health center and municipality that implement the policy, thereby obtaining basic data for efficient and effective promotion of the regional health care policy by government and local public agencies.

2 Subjects

Public health centers and municipalities nationwide

3 Type of Report

Fiscal yearly report

4 Report Items

(1)Regional Public Health Services (the Regional Public Health Act, the Mother and Child Health Act and the Vaccination Act, etc.)

Mother and Child Health, Health Promotion, Dental Health, Mental Health and Welfare, Situation of Staffing, etc.

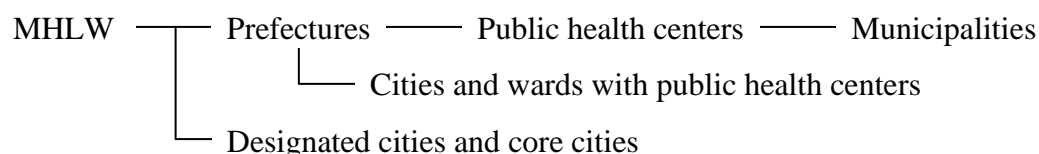

(2)Health Promotion Services (the Health Promotion Act NO.17 section 1 and NO.19-2)

Health Examination, Home-visit instruction, Examinees of Cancer, etc.

5 Method and Route of Report

(1) The Prefectural governor, Mayor of designated cities and core cities reported to Director-General for Statistics and Information Policy, Ministry of Health, Labour and Welfare within a certain period.

(2) Route of Report

6 Notes

(1) The responsible agencies for Report on Regional Public Health Services and Health Promotion Services (hereafter, the Reports) are “Public health centers” and “Municipalities” for Report on Regional Public Health Services and “Municipalities” for Report on Health Promotion Services.

(2) In the Reports, “Cities of cabinet order” means cities with public health centers, and “Special wards” means Tokyo’s 23 wards.

(3) The population used to calculate the rates “per 100,000 population” in this outline is the “Population based on Residential Basic Book (as of 1 January 2023)” by the Ministry of Internal Affairs and Communications.

(4) Symbols used in the tables

Quantity zero	—
Data not available or applicable	...
Item/Category not applicable	•

- (5) Values presented in percentages are rounded and the sums of the items do not always make up the totals.
- (6) In case of the modification in this outline, we will place the corrigenda on MHLW's homepage.
URL (<https://www.mhlw.go.jp/toukei/list/32-19.html>)