Examples of Participatory Social Security (Positive Welfare) ②
Continuing to live in a local community

Community life in Japan in 2020 (image)

Services to support childrearing

Childrearing counseling, family support, etc.

No waitlisted children for daycare centers

Daycare centers/Nursery schools

Home

Both men and women participate in employment and community activities

Various daycare services including home-visit service

*New Growth Strategies (for ch-ildrearing)
Income increase by women's continued employment benefitting from service expa-nsion 3.3trillion yen
New employment 160.000 people

Municipal level

*New Growth Strategies (for med-ical care/long-term care)
Market size 78 trillion yen
New employment 2,600,000 peoples

Services to support daily life of the elderly
(Image of junior high school district)

Admission within 3 months

Small-scale multifunction facilities

Group homes

Specified facilities

Long-term care facilities

Community General Support Center

Safety for 24 hours a day and 365 days a year

Visit within half an hour

Care managers

Housing for elderly with nursing care

Life at one's own home until the end of life (cooperation between medical care and nursing care)

Home-visit nursing service and home-visit help for 24 hours a day

Home care supporting clinics, etc.

Care workers (helpers) etc.

Return to community
Return to home

Active labour market policies

Companies, etc.

Population size
200,000 – 300,000 people

Network of medical institutions centered on regional core hospitals including emergency hospitals

Reliable acceptance of critical-care patients

The elderly, people with disabilities and women, etc. who are active in their community taking advantage of "New Public Commons"

The second safety net to support job losers through vocational training, employment support and life security

Creation of a participation-oriented society where all people including young people, women, the elderly and people with disabilities can fulfill their motivation to work

Prefectural level

Cancer treatment and highly advanced medical care

Vocational training school

City/Town/ Village halls

Hello Work

NPOs, etc. (New Public Commons)

Hospitals to offer advanced and specialized medical care

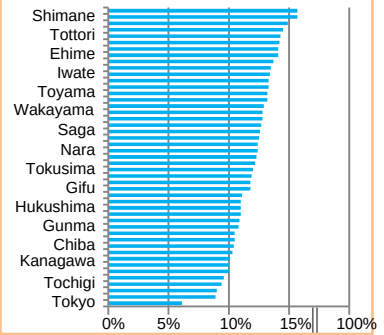
Center for positive welfare

*New Growth Strategies (for employment)Employment rate for those aged 20 - 64Employment rate for women aged 25 – 44

Employment rate for those aged 60-64

74.6% → 80%66% → 73%57% → 63%

National level

Support for planning and finance of local governments


Pension system to support regional income
[Reference] Proportion of pension to regional economy
(comparison with prefectural income)