

To all those having received industrial accident compensation insurance benefits and their surviving families

Additional benefits may apply to industrial accident compensation insurance benefits paid after July 2004

The statistical wage amount shown constituted a slightly lower figure, because part of the data came from the sample survey, even though it should have been conducted by the complete survey required by the “Monthly Labor Statistics Survey” of the Ministry of Health, Labor and Welfare.

Consequently, the changes in average wage by their slide adjustment rate and calculated based on the survey impacted on the amount of industrial accident compensation insurance benefits payable to some extent.

Additional benefits have been paid retroactively from the relevant period since 2004.

We sincerely apologize for your inconvenience.

If you received the following benefits after July 2004, you may be eligible for the additional benefits mentioned.

- ◆ Injury and Disease (Compensation) Pension, Injury and Disease Special Pension
- ◆ Disability (Compensation) Pension, Disability Special Pension
- ◆ Surviving Family (Compensation) Pension, Surviving Family Special pension, Surviving Family Special Prepaid Lump sum
- ◆ Temporary Absence from Work (Compensation) Benefits, Temporary Absence from Work Allowance etc.

* Even if you received benefits after July 2004, you may not be eligible for additional benefits depending on the timing and basic daily benefit payment amount.

○ Payment of benefits and additional benefits is executed with the recalculated amounts based on the following schedule:
