

For IT Personnel Considering Working Abroad

The Japanese government welcomes foreign nationals from around the world, including study abroad students and IT personnel working in Japan. The number of foreign-national personnel working in Japan is increasing every year, and as of 2019, 1.66 million foreign-national personnel were working in Japan (among this figure, 67,540 were in the information and communications industry).

This pamphlet is for foreign residents who are considering working as IT personnel in Japan, and in addition to providing general information as well as a Q&A related to working and living in Japan, it also introduces you to the personal experiences of IT personnel who are already active in Japan.
