For people planning to graduate from high school

Do you have any misunderstandings about drugs?

Cannabis is an illegal drug that affects the brain!

Don't be deceived by incorrect information and make decisions based on correct knowledge

Cannabis ~~is~~ Safe

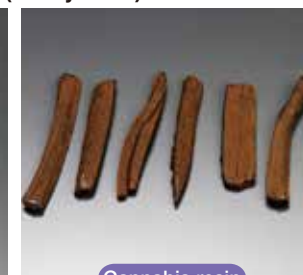

There is a stream of incorrect information about cannabis such as that it has no negative effects on the body and that it doesn't cause dependence. However, in reality it is an illegal drug that affects the brain and causes various problems.

If cannabis is abused, the person's perception changes, they lose the ability to concentrate, and have emotional instability. In addition, if the abuse is continued, it causes a condition of not having motivation to do anything (disorder of diminished motivation), lowered intellectual function, cannabis-induced psychosis, and more, and makes the person become unable to adapt to life in society.

The number of arrests of young people is increasing!

The number of people arrested for cannabis, which reached its peak in 2009 and had been decreasing, has been increasing in recent years, particularly with increasing arrests of minors and people in their 20s.

There are concerns about the spread among young people, such as arrests of high school students for violation of the Cannabis Control Act in Ibaraki Prefecture and Okayama Prefecture in 2017, and in Nagasaki Prefecture in 2018.

Cannabis is known as a gateway drug. Because there is a high danger of it becoming an opportunity to use other drugs, it should not be used even once.

Change in the number of people arrested for cannabis crimes

But I heard there are also some legal and safe drugs?

➔ Please learn the true information about dangerous drugs and don't be tricked by bad rumors.

Dangerous drugs

These drugs are sold by disguising them so they don't seem like dangerous drugs with names like "herbs," "aromas," "aroma oils," and "bath salts," and contain added synthetic substances that imitate the chemical structures of drugs like stimulants and cannabis. Thus, they are neither legal nor safe. In addition to causing health damage and even death in users, there are also many reports of examples of them involving other people such as in incidents resulting in injuries and fatalities and traffic accidents.

Due to legal reform in 2014, it is illegal to possess, use, purchase, or transfer "dangerous drugs" that are designated drugs, and street stores were destroyed due to the strengthened regulation. However, they are still being sold on the internet and other places.

Representative drugs that are abused

Drugs that are mainly abused in Japan are cannabis and dangerous drugs, as well as stimulants, MDMA, psychotropic drugs, thinners (organic solvents), and more. Abuse of stimulants causes hallucinations and delusions, and consuming large quantities can lead to death. MDMA causes vision and hearing changes, there are cases of it harming people such as with anxiety and insomnia, and continued use causes people to fall victim to mental agitation. Psychotropic drugs have medical uses, but abusing them causes mental and health impediments. For all of these drugs, even if you stop using them, your dependence on them will remain.

■ MDMA

■ Psychotropic drugs

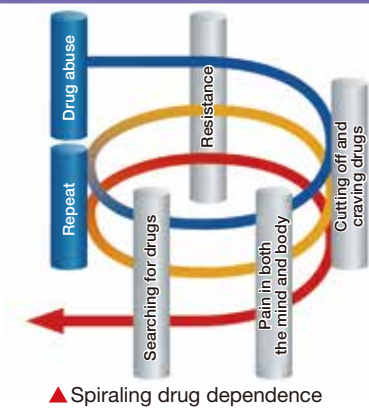

■ Organic solvents
(thinners, toluene, etc.)

What happens if you use dangerous drugs and illegal drugs?

➔ A brain destroyed by drug abuse will not return to how it was before. Sometimes people die.

Drug abuse affects the brain. Neural circuits control humans' actions, emotions, and more, but drug abuse destroys neural circuits. This causes respiratory arrest, hallucinations, impaired consciousness, and more. In addition, the shared trait of drugs that are abused is that they cause "dependence" that makes people want to use them over and over again. Drugs become the most important thing more than anything else, making people fall into the condition where they cannot quit even if they want to.

For example...

Normal state

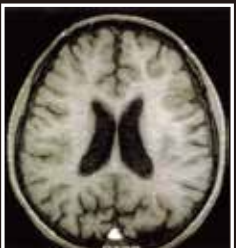

Healthy brain

The ability to differentiate between past memories and reality...

➔

With drug use...

Drug abuser's brain

Unable to differentiate between past memories and what is happening in reality!

Bugs that caused disgust when seen in the past

One's real hand

If I abuse drugs, the only person hurt will be me, right?

➔ Wrong. There is the possibility of hurting your family, friends, and third parties you have no relation to.

Drug abuse not only affects the mind and body of the user, but also has the danger of affecting the people surrounding him/her. You should understand why drug abuse is absolutely unforgivable if you imagine if the victims were people you care about.

Confessions of drug abusers

When I used stimulants, I was always agitated. I imagined that the police were tailing me when I rode the train and sometimes hit the regular office workers behind me with all my strength and ran away. I hit a person when driving after using stimulants, and I just ran away because I was afraid that my stimulant use would be exposed. The victim was a child. It started when I was curious and tried marijuana (cannabis), and from there I became addicted to stimulants. It's impossible to take it back even if I repent, but I wish I had never done marijuana that first time.
(Drug abuser A)

I thought nobody would be harmed but me. However, I tricked many of my friends and borrowed money and I was violent with my wife. I kept leaving the childrearing to my wife and I caused many losses at work. I was arrested for stimulants and given a suspended sentence, but on that day I used them again. I could not stop after that and in the end I was put in prison. My wife is raising the children by herself.
(Drug abuser B)

Tempting invitations to drug abuse

It's fine if it's just once

You'll enjoy the best mood ever

If you try this, it'll clear your head and make your grades improve

Everyone's doing it. Aren't you my friend?

Maybe it's fine if it's just once?

It might cause distance with my friends if I refuse.

Using illegal drugs even just once is abuse! Even if it's just one time, your brain will remember it all.

NO!!!

If you're a real friend, then don't invite me to do dangerous drugs!

Have the courage to refuse to protect yourself and value yourself.

Even once is drug abuse!

There are dangerous drugs that are even more hazardous than cannabis and marijuana.

I need to go take care of an errand...

That way won't make my grades improve.

*When you feel it's hard to refuse, get away from that place. Getting away shows courage.
