

55. JJM VAN SAENE, et al. (1986); Quinolones and colonization resistance in human volunteers
Pharmaceutisch Weekblad Sci Ed: 1986 (8), 67-71
56. S Esposito, et al. (1987); Intestinal microflora changes induced by ciprofloxacin and treatment of portal-systemic encephalopathy (PSE)
Durg Exptl Clin Res : 1987 XIII(10), 641-646
57. S Pecquet, et al. (1990); Faecal excretion of ciprofloxacin after a single oral dose and its effect on faecal bacteria in healthy volunteers
J of Antimicrob Chemother. : 1990 (26), 125-129
58. K Marutani, et al. (1993); Reduced phototoxicity of a fluoroquinolone antibacterial agent with a methoxy group at the 8 position in mice irradiated with long-wavelength UV light
Antimicrob Agents Chemother. : 1993 (37), No.10, 2217-2223
59. N Hayashi, et al (2004); New finding on the structure-phototoxicity relationship and photostability of fluoroquinolones with various substituents position 1
Antimicrob Agents Chemother. : 2004 (48), No.3, 799-803
60. N Hayashi (2005); New findings on the structure-phototoxicity relationship and photostability of fluoroquinolones
Yakugaku Zasshi: 2005 (125), No.3, 255-261.
61. T Zhang et al., (2004); Compare two methods of measuring DNA damage induced by photogenotoxicity of fluoroquinolones
Acta Phaemacol Sin: 2004, 25(2), 171-175
62. DS Ronald and SC Curt (1999); Photogenotoxicity of fluoroquinolones in Chinese hamster V79 Cells: Dependency on active topoisomerase II
Photochem and photobiol: 1999, 69(3), 288-293
63. J Ferguson and R Dawe (1997); Phototoxicity in quinolones: comparison of ciprofloxacin and grepafloxacin
J of Antimicrob Chemother. : 1997 (40), Suppl. A, 93-98
64. WHO: Technical Report Series 893, 2000.
65. EMEA (2002); REVISED GUIDELINE ON SAFETY EVALUATION OF ANTIMICROBIAL SUBSTANCES REGARDING THE EFFECTS ON HUMAN GUT FLORA